BornHack 2024 Checklist

Henrik Kramselund hlk@kramse.org

2024-07-17

Travel and arriving

Might be arriving late, shops closed

- ☐ Sodas and Beer
- ☐ Initial food, some bread and cheese

Camp and work space Infrastructure

Having a nice place to work is the goal. Make it fun to sit there. Hack tent/pavillion, I use Coleman Event Shelter with UV protection!

Also these things are used by more people in the village. Also ordered tables from BornHack and some more chairs.

- ☐ Coleman event shelter large
- ☐ Camping table
- ☐ Side table IKEA Lack
- ☐ Camping chairs
- ☐ Sun chairs?
- ☐ Light and lamps
- ☐ Fun LED lighting, everybody loves blinkenlights
- ☐ Camping carpet
- ☐ Music equipment speakers, amplifier and Tablet A6
- ☐ Additional extensions for blinkenlights
- ☐ Decoration -- husk pinde til samurai
- ☐ Whiteboard and pens

Kitchen stuff

- ☐ Wet wipes/Baby wipes
- ☐ Cooler
- ☐ Water tank
- ☐ Water bottle
- ☐ Termo cup for tea and coffee
- ☐ Water heater JetBoil works for me
- ☐ Cups for tea and coffee
- ☐ Plates, utensilcs etc.
- ☐ A few sharp knifes for preparing food, cutting etc.
- ☐ Cutting boards
- ☐ Containers for food - misc sizes
- ☐ Large box with kitchen stuff and aeropress

Technical Camp Infrastructure

Power

If the camp provides power -- you need more than you think:

- ☐ Power boxes outdoor waterproof
- ☐ Long extension cords 25m and rolls, multiple
- ☐ Power cables as needed for disibution "inside" power strips with 3-5m and 10 plugs work great

Solar and DC Networking

- ☐ Battery and solar panel, I use Ecoflow which is easy
- ☐ DC Power cables as needed -- y splitter

Tools and misc

- ☐ Radios Boafeng x2
- ☐ Working gloves
- ☐ Toolboxes contain generic tools, pliers, Ethernet crimping, label writer etc.
- ☐ Svensk nøgle
- ☐ Reusable Strips
- ☐ Samsung printer
- ☐ Xerox printer plus nevertear
- ☐ A4 printer paper

Network equipment

Many hacker camps provide Internet connections, wired! You can often get better connectivity than a wireless network across a field, so bring:

- ☐ A few Long network cables 30-50m to connect to camp network
- ☐ A few Long network cables 10m
- ☐ Misc extensions and patch cables 10-15 pieces, or how many you are
- ☐ The internet box with EX2200C, EX3300 and some SRX
- ☐ Table switches, smaller passively cooled ones!
- ☐ PoE switches and PoE PD switches
- ☐ Router/firewall I use a small PC Engines APU2 and Shuttle
- ☐ Armored fiber cables
- ☐ SFPs

Workshop Servers and Stuff

This part is a bit personal, I bring a lot of computers to play with, YMMV:

- ☐ Internet in a box
- ☐ Arista
- ☐ Dell small server and tower
- ☐ Extra 10G cards
- ☐ Twinax cables
- ☐ XPC with small server 10G

My Computers and extras

- ☐ Primary laptop Razer
- ☐ Extra laptop Asus Zenbook, KEA Mac
- ☐ Tablet
- ☐ Keyboard, Mouse - and mouse pad
- ☐ Timon Kubernetes server

- ☐ Monitor plus cables, minijack, HDMI, power
- ☐ Headphones/headset
- ☐ Small speaker XB30
- ☐ Small form factor PCs, like APU2C4, Raspberry Pi, Beaglebone Black osv.
- ☐ Batteries for things, mouse, headset, etc.
- ☐ Books Kubernetes Patterns, Rbookdown,
- ☐ Electronic equipment, soldering iron, badge hacking etc.
- ☐ Thomann flightcase 5

Tent and Sleeping

Each person need a place to sleep. In bigger villages we put them around the common tent.

- ☐ Sleeping tent

- ☐ Tarps are great for both sunny day, shade and heavy rain

- ☐ Long extension cord and power strips for your tent

- ☐ Mattress, don't buy the cheap crappy ones, proper camping self-inflating mats work for me over +5 years

- ☐ Bed sheet

- ☐ Sleeping bag

- ☐ Pillow

Personal

Take care of yourself

- ☐ Water bootle! Bring it and drink water!
- ☐ Contact lenses, glasses
- ☐ Medicine, prescription ones of course, but also if you get stomach acid easily Alminox
- ☐ Sun screen protection, SPF +20 for nerds :-)
- ☐ Sun glasses or a hat perhaps
- ☐ Trousers
- ☐ Relaxed clothing
- ☐ Shorts and bathing shorts?
- ☐ Cool t-shirts
- ☐ Hoodies, to keep you warm at night
- ☐ Underwear and socks
- ☐ Sandals
- ☐ Soap/shampoo
- ☐ Cotton buds
- ☐ Tooth brush and paste
- ☐ Towel, always know where it is!